Eva Schildt 2009

FLORA

In creating Glow, Eva Schildt produced a family of different-sized fire cages for a wide range of uses. All models give off a warm, soft light, while the shape of the lamellas conjures up fascinating shadows. When placed on tables, windowsills or in the entrance to a house, the members of FLORA's Glow family create an inviting scenario of lighting for events, in the catering trade, or in private homes. Candles, wood, or torch inserts provide the light.

House, Berlin

The guests are eagerly looking forward to the evening and they set foot on the property. Glows light the way to the garden, where many friends are enjoying themselves and enjoying the pleasant weather. The garden is illuminated, and the warm interplay of light and shadows created by the fire cages conjures up fascinating structures in the landscape.
